Article 25 – Initiation of enforcement

1. The National Bureau of Enforcement shall initiate enforcement proceedings based on a creditor's written application for compulsory enforcement and the writ of execution, in connection with the enforcement of a judgement of the European Court of Human Rights – based on the individual administrative act of the Minister of Justice of Georgia, in connection with the enforcement of a mortgage certificate under Article 258¹ of the Civil Code of Georgia – based on an application of a mortgager holding the mortgage certificate and on the mortgage certificate, in connection with the enforcement of a leasing certificate under Article 580⁸ of the same Code – based on an application of a lessor holding the leasing certificate and on the leasing certificate, in connection with the enforcement of the debt recovery order – based on the debt recovery order and a creditor's application, in connection with the enforcement of an enforcement order – based on the enforcement order and the creditor's application. Where a summary proceeding of claims for the recovery of a monetary debt involves a preliminary claim for enforcement of the debt recovery order, the creditor shall no longer file an application for initiation of enforcement. Submission of the creditor's application for initiating the enforcement shall not be required either if the enforcement order must be referred for immediate enforcement. Enforcement of a decision under Article 2 of this Law, for which a writ of execution is required, may be initiated only when the persons, for or against whom/which enforcement is to occur, are specifically named in the writ of execution. If the creditor's claim is secured with a hypothecation or registered mortgage, compulsory enforcement shall be conducted even when the owner of the property used as collateral is not the debtor mentioned in the writ of execution. In such case, the registered owner of the property shall be presumed to be the debtor's assignee until proved otherwise. If the decision is to be enforced in favour of the State Budget, the budget of an autonomous republic or the budget of a local self-governing unit, the court shall send the writ of execution to the territorial authority of the National Bureau of Enforcement according to the location of the debtor.

2. When enforcing decisions for increasing a creditor's claim by charging interest and/or default surcharge penalties on the principal amount, the charging of interest and/or default surcharge penalties on the principal amount of the creditor's claim shall stop from the day of initiation of the enforcement proceedings except where a tax claim is involved. Charging of interest and/or default surcharge penalties on the principal amount of a creditor's claim shall be resumed from the day when the National Bureau of Enforcement returns the writ of execution to the creditor under Article 35 of this Law.

3. The writ of execution and/or the enforceable decision shall be presented to the territorial authority of the National Bureau of Enforcement according to the location of the debtor and/or the debtor's property and where so provided by Chapter III² of this Law – to a private bailiff. When applying to the National Bureau of Enforcement for initiation of enforcement proceedings, it is not mandatory to adhere to the territorial principle, if the creditor is a natural person, a legal entity under private law or an association of persons not created as a legal entity. A certified copy of the enforceable decision shall be appended to the writ of execution.

4. Where the property is reclaimed from the possession and/or use of another person, a document evidencing the market value of the property and issued by a competent person or body shall be submitted together with the writ of execution or an application of a mortgager holding a mortgage certificate under Article 2 of this Law, or an application of a lessor holding a leasing certificate under Article 2 of this Law. The National Bureau of Enforcement may not rely on a document submitted for the property evaluation and may evaluate the property on its own. If the evaluation of property finds that its value is higher than stated in the application submitted by the person, and further, the enforcement proceedings have been initiated, the National Bureau of Enforcement shall set a time limit for the creditor during which he/she must add up to the amount of a fee he/she has already paid to make it full amount. Failure to meet this obligation shall result in the returning of the writ of execution/enforceable decision to the creditor without enforcement.

4¹. Based on the application of the person wishing to present the writ of execution/enforceable decision referred to in paragraph 4 of this article for enforcement, the National Bureau of Enforcement may evaluate the property in return for the fee fixed pursuant to the service fee determined by an order of the Minister of Justice of Georgia. In such case, the enforcement proceedings may be initiated even without presentation of the document certifying the market value of the property. After it has evaluated the property, the National Bureau of Enforcement shall set a time frame for the creditor to pay the fixed preliminary fee. The creditor's failure to pay the fee within such time frame shall result in returning the writ of execution/enforceable decision to the creditor without enforcing it.

5. (Deleted – 11.12.2015, No 4628).

6. The National Bureau of Enforcement shall inform the parties to the enforcement proceedings on the initiation of enforcement according to this article, as determined by the Civil Procedure Code of Georgia for service of notice.

7. The National Bureau of Enforcement shall inform the debtor within no later than five days after the initiation of the enforcement proceedings. The debtor shall be informed of:

a) the imposition of only the relevant part of enforcement fee prepaid by the creditor in the event of voluntary fulfilment of claim or of the full amount of enforcement fee in the event of voluntary non-fulfilment of the claim within seven days of information;

b) the rights defined by Article 18 of this Law;

c) legal implications of the initiation of the enforcement proceedings;

d) the possible measures to be implemented under this Law for the compulsory enforcement;

e) the rules and means of obtaining specific information on enforcement.

8. The debtor shall not be given any additional notice of a particular time and place of the enforcement measure.

9. In the cases for the recovery of a monetary amount, reclaiming property from other person's possession, transfer of property or in such other categories of cases when enforcement is conducted upon or at the expense of the debtor's property, upon serving an offer (or if the offer cannot be served in a timely manner) the bailiff shall immediately start locating, taking inventory of and attaching the debtor's property as provided by this Law.

10. In enforcing the decision under Article 2(f) of this Law, the National Bureau of Enforcement shall not attach the debtor's (taxpayer's) property if the property was attached in the case defined in Article 3(1¹) of this Law.

10¹. In enforcing the debt recovery referred to in Article 2 of this Law, the National Bureau of Enforcement shall not re-attach the debtor's property if such property has been attached in a summary proceeding over the claims for the recovery of a monetary debt under Chapter XVI¹ of this Law.

11. If a decision is immediately enforceable, the debtor shall be given a notice of immediate and voluntary fulfilment of the decision.

12. Where so provided for by this Law, the notices, offers, decisions, and other documents sent by the National Bureau of Enforcement shall be served upon persons involved in the enforcement proceeding under the procedure established by the Civil Procedure Code of Georgia.

13. Upon receiving the creditor's application for enforcing a court decision with the funds of the State Budget, the budget of an autonomous republic, or the budget of the local self-governing unit, the National Bureau of Enforcement shall inform the indebted public authority and the Ministry of Finance of Georgia on voluntary fulfilment of the decision with the budget funds.

Within one month after the attachment of chattels or, within two weeks after the initiation of an enforcement proceeding in the cases provided by Article 47(3) of this Law, the National Bureau of Enforcement or any other person, based on the contract with the National Bureau of Enforcement, shall announce a public auction to sell such chattels.

12. If the second repeat auction also fails to identify the winner or if the winner of the auction does not pay the price of chattels within the period fixed by this Law, the National Bureau of Enforcement may issue, within 15 days after the end of the auction, an order of transfer of chattels in kind to the State/autonomous republic/local self-governing unit and such an order shall be given to the body authorised to manage/dispose of the property. If the order is not issued within the above period, the chattels shall be discharged from attachment effected in favour of the creditor of the compulsory sale and shall be returned to the debtor.

2. Where the claims under various writs of execution against one debtor are enforced by different bailiffs, one and the same property of the debtor shall be auctioned or otherwise sold by the bailiff who was the first to register attachment of weapons, vehicles and ancillary technical means of an agricultural machine defined under paragraph 1 of Article 53 of the Law of Georgia on Traffic with the relevant authority of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Georgia, upon civil aircraft with the State Register of Civil Aircraft, upon seagoing ships with the State Register of Georgian Ships, upon stocks with the relevant person maintaining the stock register, and upon any other property with the Public Registry. He/she must pay the attached amount to the creditor. Any other act that is the subject-matter of the obligation must be performed by the bailiff.

Article 63² – Other sale of immovable property

1. A debtor, against whom enforcement for recovery of money is pending, may apply to a bailiff to provide preliminary auction services for the immovable property owned by him/her. Such application shall include precise inventory of the property to be sold and starting price of such property that shall be determined by the owner and that shall not be less than the total of the enforceable claim, enforcement fee, enforcement costs and the costs for rendering auction services. The bailiff shall be obliged to fulfil the claim regarding provision of preliminary auction services. The application shall be submitted to the bailiff in writing. It shall be appended with a check confirming the payment of the fee for auction services that shall be determined by the order of the Minister of Justice of Georgia. The claim for providing preliminary auction services shall also have appended an extract from the Public Registry regarding the immovable property to be sold, updated no earlier than two business days prior to applying with such application, together with descriptive material of the property inventory (photographs, drawings, and other information necessary for the sale of property). The debtor shall be held responsible for the accuracy and authenticity of information and documents submitted by him/her. The bailiff shall be held responsible only if the damage is caused by his/her own fault.

2. The application for providing preliminary auction services submitted to the bailiff shall be allowed within three business days after its submittal and the auction shall be declared within the following two business days according to the determined procedure. If the mentioned application is submitted without complying with the conditions under paragraph 1 of this article, the bailiff shall be obliged to inform the person submitting the application about such fault, precisely indicating the fault and requiring elimination of such fault within three business days. If the fault is not eliminated within this period, the application shall not be considered, although this shall not prejudice the same person's right to re-submit the same application after an appropriate period. The period determined for the elimination of fault shall be counted from the day of serving a notice on the debtor as provided by this Law, which shall be carried out according to the procedure determined under Articles 70-78 of the Civil Procedure Code of Georgia. The bailiff's written decision on determining such period shall be immediately recorded in the electronic records management programme. The debtor may, during the period determined for the elimination of fault, request extension of the period by not more than two business days. Such request must be satisfied.

3. A preliminary auction shall be held according to the procedure of holding auctions under this Law. The starting price of the property shall be the price indicated in the claim on providing auction services submitted by the debtor. A preliminary auction shall be held once and in the event it ends without any result it shall not create an obligation for holding a repeat or additional auction.

4. In the event the property is sold at the preliminary auction, an order shall be issued for the purchaser as provided by this Law. The winner of the auction shall undertake the obligations considered under this Law.

5. If for the date of submitting an application under paragraph 1 of this article another enforcement is initiated and is pending against the debtor mentioned in the same paragraph, the starting price of the property to be sold at the auction shall not be less than the total of such enforceable claim, enforcement fee, enforcement costs and the cost of auction services.

6. The application under paragraph 1 of this article may be submitted within 15 calendar days following the date that the debtor has been informed of the initiation of enforcement according to the determined procedure. After expiry of this period, according to the procedures determined under this article, a preliminary auction may be held only with prior consent of the creditor.

Chapter XIV – Sequestration (Enforced Administration)

Article 78 – Sequestration

1. At all stages of a compulsory enforcement, based on a creditor's application and as provided under this Law, the debtor's enforceable property may be assigned for enforced administration to an administrator appointed by the court, or if the enforcement against property has been initiated by the National Bureau of Enforcement, the enforceable property may be assigned for enforced administration to an administrator appointed by the National Bureau of Enforcement or to the owner him/her/it-self.

2. The intent of enforced administration is to satisfy liabilities using the revenues obtained by use of debtor's property for economic purposes, thus avoiding the sale of property through an auction for the debtor's interests.

3. If the enforceable claim is expected to be allowed in not less than three months by means of enforced administration and if the market value of the debtor's property by at least ten times exceeds the amount of the enforceable claim, the National Bureau of Enforcement may, at the substantiated request of the debtor and as determined under this Law, irrespective of the creditor's consent, take a decision on using the right of enforced administration for not more than three months period. This period may be extended only once, but not for more than a month.

4. If there are conditions under paragraph 3 of this article and if the case is being enforced by the private bailiff, the debtor may request the private bailiff to use the right of enforced administration. The National Bureau of Enforcement may use the right of enforced administration on the private bailiff's enforcement case at the stage of rendering auction services, before the public announcement of the enforced auction is made. The National Bureau of Enforcement shall carry out enforced administration of the private bailiff's enforcement case as determined under this chapter.

5. The property listed in Article 45 of this Law shall not be subject to enforced administration except in the cases when the debtor agrees to surrender the property for enforced administration, if the administration results in the satisfaction of the liability.

6. The proceeds recovered as a result of enforced administration (net of current costs) shall be transferred to the deposit account of the National Bureau of Enforcement, in respect of which the administrator shall give a notice to the bailiff.
7. The administrator and the bailiff shall be obliged to give the court, or if the decision for enforced administration is taken by the National Bureau of Enforcement – the National Bureau of Enforcement, a notice on satisfaction of the creditors' claims. In such case, the court/the National Bureau of Enforcement shall deliver a decision on termination of enforced administration.
8. Enforced administration ordered by court/the National Bureau of Enforcement under this article shall be governed by the provisions of Article 310 of the Civil Code of Georgia.
9. Enforced administration shall not take place if the debtor objects to it or if he/she fails to ensure conditions necessary for carrying out enforced administration under normal conditions.
10. During enforced administration other enforcement measures shall be suspended for the period of the enforced administration. Within this period the limitations established before the enforced administration of the property shall apply.
11. Enforced administration shall be terminated and the enforcement according to the general procedure shall continue, if:
- a) the liability is not fulfilled as a result of enforced administration and, at the same time, there is no grounds for taking a decision on extending the period of enforced administration;
 - b) the conditions of enforced administration are violated (except for the cases, when it is possible to eliminate such violation shortly, before the question on terminating enforced administration is decided);
 - c) during the enforced administration period it is found that there is another circumstance, which in legal or factual point-of-view excludes the use of enforced administration.

12. Enforced administration may not take place if during the enforced administration process the third person's interests are restricted in any form. In such case, enforced administration may take place only with a prior consent of the third person. The enforced administration shall be ceased immediately after the information on restricting the third person's interests is obtained.

3. When the National Bureau of Enforcement makes a decision on using enforced administration, an employee of the National Bureau of Enforcement shall be designated as the administrator.
