

Law of Georgia on the Police

Chapter I – General Provisions

Article 1 – The scope of the Law

1. This Law shall define basic principles of the Georgian police activities, the legal grounds for organisational structure of the police, its functions, measures to be carried out by the police and legal forms of exercising police authority, procedure for serving in the police, legal and social protection guarantees of police officers and control over police activities.
2. The purpose of this Law shall be to ensure the protection of public security and legal order.
3. This Law shall apply to the activities of persons having special and military ranks who serve within the system of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Georgia (MIA) ('the Ministry').

Article 2 – Definition of terms

For the purposes of this Law, the terms used shall have the following meanings:

- a) public safety – inviolability of human rights, state sovereignty, territorial integrity and constitutional order, laws and other acts of Georgia;
- b) legal order – a system of behaviour and relations formed within society and regulated by the legislation of Georgia and by customs, traditions, and moral norms that do not contradict the legislation of Georgia;
- c) threat – a condition indicating reasonable grounds to believe that in case of an unobstructed course of expected developments there is a high probability that the good protected by the police would be damaged;
- d) reasonable grounds to believe – a fact and/or information that would be sufficient for an impartial observer to draw conclusions considering given circumstances;
- e) an administrative real act – a public legal action aimed at achieving actual outcomes rather than at originating, changing, or terminating legal relations;
- f) border-police activities – a unity of office-related organisational, procedural, investigative, legal and administrative, criminal intelligence, intelligence, counter-intelligence, regime, technical and military and tactical activities that are performed by the Border Police of Georgia to carry out the functions vested in it;

Article 3 – The Police of Georgia

The Police of Georgia ('the Police') are a system of law enforcement agencies under the Ministry exercising executive power. Within the scope of its authority, under the legislation of Georgia, the Police carry out preventive measures and respond to offences to ensure public security and legal order.

Article 4 – Organisational structure of the Police

1. The police shall function within the system of the Ministry and shall employ persons holding ranks determined by the legislation of Georgia, and other public servants ('Ministry employees').
2. Police agencies shall function within the system of the Ministry as structural sub-units, territorial bodies, the state sub-agency – Border Police of Georgia, and legal entities under public law (LEPLs) operating within the system of the Ministry.
3. A police officer shall be a public servant who serves at the Ministry, an employee of the state sub-agency – Border Police of Georgia or an employee of a legal entity under public law within the Ministry who are conferred a special rank and who have taken the oath of a police officer.
4. The text of the oath of police officer shall be approved by the Minister of Internal Affairs of Georgia ('the Minister').

Article 5 – Legal grounds for police activity

1. Legal grounds for police activity shall be the Constitution of Georgia, international legal acts, this Law and other laws of Georgia, legal acts and other normative acts of the President of Georgia, the Government of Georgia, the Prime-Minister of Georgia and the Minister.
2. The Law of Georgia on Public Service shall apply to police officers and Ministry employees, unless otherwise provided for by this Law and other legislative acts.
3. For the purposes of this Law, the Minister, within the scope of his/her authority, shall issue normative acts and individual administrative-legal acts, and shall execute administrative real acts.

4. The Police shall exercise their preventive actions applying legal forms of activities of administrative bodies – administrative and legal acts and administrative real acts – as provided for by the General Administrative Code of Georgia. Procedures set by the General Administrative Code of Georgia shall not apply to issuance and notification of individual administrative and legal acts on conducting criminal intelligence actions.
5. The Criminal Procedure Code and other relevant normative acts of Georgia shall specify legal forms of police responsive actions to offences committed by the Police for detecting, preventing, and investigating a crime.
- Law of Georgia No 713 of 21 April 2017 – website, 10.5.2017*

Article 6 – International cooperation of the Police

1. International cooperation of the Police shall be based on international treaties of Georgia, the principle of reciprocity and regional cooperation as determined by the legislation of Georgia.
 2. The main goal of the international cooperation of the Police shall be the collection of crime-related information world-wide and combating against crime, and for this purpose, close cooperation with appropriate services of other foreign countries and the General Secretariat of Interpol.
- Law of Georgia No 3922 of 8 July 2015 – website, 15.7.2015*

Article 7 – Cooperation of the Police with state and municipality bodies, civic organisations, legal and natural persons

1. To perform their functions, the Police shall cooperate with state and municipality bodies, civic organisations, legal and natural persons as determined by the legislation of Georgia.
 2. The General Administrative Code of Georgia shall regulate the issues related to the provision of legal assistance by the Police to other administrative bodies.
- Law of Georgia No 6919 of 15 July 2020 – website, 28.7.2020*

Article 7¹ – Protection of the rights of persons with disabilities

When carrying out police measures, the police shall ensure the protection of the rights provided for by the Law of Georgia on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.

Chapter II – Basic Principles of Police Activity

Article 8 – Basic guiding principles of police activity

1. A police officer shall strictly observe the principles of protecting and respecting fundamental human rights and freedoms, lawfulness, non-discrimination, proportionality, exercising discretionary power, political neutrality, and transparency of police activity.
2. Violation of basic guiding principles of police activity by a police officer while carrying out police measures shall incur liabilities under the legislation of Georgia.

Article 9 – The principle of protecting and respecting fundamental human rights and freedoms

1. The forms, methods, and means of police activity shall not infringe human honour and dignity, right to life, physical inviolability, right to property and other fundamental rights and freedoms, and shall not cause unjustifiable damage to the environment.
2. Torture, inhuman, and degrading treatment shall be inadmissible when carrying out police measures.

Article 10 – Principle of lawfulness

1. Measures carried out by a police officer shall be based on the principles of the rule of law and legal reservation.
2. Under the principle of the rule of law, crime prevention and response measures shall comply with the requirements of law.
3. Under the principle of legal reservation, police measures that limit human rights and freedoms recognised by the Constitution of Georgia may only be carried out under the law.

Article 11 – Principle of inadmissibility of discrimination

The Police shall respect and protect human rights and freedoms irrespective of race, skin colour, language, sex, age, status of disability, religion, political or other opinions, national, ethnic, or social affiliation, origin, property or social status, place of residence, or other characteristics.

Law of Georgia No 6837 of 14 July 2020 – website, 28.7.2020

Article 12 – Principle of proportionality

1. Police measures shall aim at achieving legitimate objectives. A selected police measure shall be fit, necessary, and proportional.
2. Measures selected by a police officer shall be deemed fit if they enable achievement of a legitimate objective.
3. A fit police measure selected by a police officer shall be deemed necessary if it is impossible to use other means that would cause less damage to the recipient of the measure and to other persons while achieving a legitimate objective.
4. A necessary police measure carried out by a police officer shall be deemed proportional if the damage inflicted to achieve the good protected by law does not exceed the good itself, for the protection of which the police measure is carried out.
5. Lawful police action shall be terminated if the objective of the action has been achieved or if it is obvious that the objective is impossible to achieve.

Article 13 – Principle of exercising discretionary powers

1. In the cases and within the scope of law, to perform its functions, the Police shall act within discretionary powers.
2. A police officer shall be authorised to decide whether to perform police measures.
3. A police officer shall have the freedom to select the most acceptable one out of several police measures under the legislation of Georgia, according to the principle of proportionality.
4. If the legislation of Georgia specifies several police measures, the use of one of the measures shall suffice to prevent a threat.

Article 14 – Principle of political neutrality

When exercising his/her powers, a police officer shall uphold the principle of non-partisanship. A police officer may not use his/her official status in favour of party interests of any political subject.

Article 15 – Principle of transparency in police activity

1. The Police shall provide public information about their activity to state bodies, civic organisations, and interested persons, as determined by the legislation of Georgia.
2. The Police shall promptly provide objective information about their activity to the public and mass media avoiding disclosure of state, professional, or commercial secret information, and personal data and investigation materials, except as provided for by law.
3. The Police shall process the personal data according to the legislation of Georgia on personal data protection, unless otherwise determined by this Law.
4. The police shall be authorised to process the data, including the personal data, stored by a loan providing agency under the Organic Law of Georgia on National Bank of Georgia in a special electronic programme for registration of movable things accepted as collateral for a financial loan, under the procedure determined by an order of the Minister.

- k) carrying out criminal intelligence measures.

2. The Police shall carry out responsive measures to offences according to this Law and the legislation of Georgia on administrative offences, criminal law, and other normative acts.

3. If a police officer cannot be identified by his/her insignia, he/she shall be obliged to present a document evidencing his/her authority to a person unless it hinders accomplishment of police functions.

4. While carrying out preventive measures and responding to offences, the Police shall take into account peculiarities and best interests of minors.

Law of Georgia No 3712 of 12 June 2015 – website, 24.6.2015

Article 19 – Questioning a person

1. To ensure public security, a police officer may openly and directly request a person to identify himself/herself, for which a police officer may stop and ask a person to present his/her identity documents, if:

- a) a person's appearance is similar to the appearance of a wanted or missing person;
- b) there are reasonable grounds to believe that a person has committed or will commit an offence;
- c) a person is in the territory of or in a facility subject to a special regime, or in a place under special police control;
- d) a person possesses a weapon defined by the Law of Georgia on Weapons, the carrying of which requires a special permit and the fact of having such permit cannot be verified otherwise;
- e) a person is at a crime scene, a road accident scene, or an incident scene;
- f) the appearance of a person, physical characteristics of a transportation mean, or a person's actions indicate his/her possible involvement in an offence.

1¹. The police shall be authorised, when carrying out a measure provided for by paragraph 1 of this article, including for the identification of a presumably wanted person, of a presumably lost person or of an alien presumably illegally staying in the territory of Georgia, or for the verification of a fact of suspending or depriving of a person's right, to verify the data of the person concerned in the information bases of the Ministry.

2. A police officer shall have the right to interview a person if there are sufficient grounds to believe that he/she has the information needed to perform police functions. Provision of information by a person shall be voluntary, except as provided for by Article 17(8) of this Law. Application of this measure against a person under the age of 14 shall only be possible in the presence of a parent or a legal representative.

3. The grounds for carrying out police measures shall be explained to a person, unless it prevents the police from performing functions imposed by this Law. In the case of an interview provided for by paragraph 2 of this article, it shall be explained to a person before this measure is carried out that participation in it is voluntary, except as provided for by Article 17(8) of this Law.

Law of Georgia No 1576 of 24 May 2022 – website, 6.6.2022

Article 20 – Identification of a person

1. The Police shall be authorised to carry out the identification of a person for observing public safety in the case provided for by Article 19(1) of this Law if the identity of a person cannot be established by taking of the preventive measures provided for in the same paragraph or if it is related to special difficulties, or if there are sufficient grounds to believe that the information and/or the identity documents provided by the person fail to prove his/her identity and the identification of the person is required to prevent offences, or there are sufficient grounds to believe that the person has direct relation to the offence committed.

2. The measures to identify a person shall be as follows:

- a) the taking of fingerprints and palm prints;
- b) the taking of photos;
- c) the recording of physical characteristics;
- d) the measuring of height;
- e) the recording of voice;
- f) the verification of the data in the information bases of the Ministry;
- g) the recording of other biometric data.

3. Before carrying out identification measures, a person shall be given an opportunity to prove his/her identity voluntarily within a reasonable period of time.

4. While carrying out identification measures, a police officer shall prepare a report and state the grounds for application of the measure, and all important factual circumstances. The report shall be signed by the police officer that has employed the measure and the person against whom the measure has been employed. If the person against whom the measure was employed refuses to sign the report, the appropriate note shall be made in the report. The person against whom the measure was employed shall have the right to enter a note into the report, which he/she must endorse by his/her signature.

5. The report provided for by paragraph 4 of this article need not be drawn up if a measure under this article is employed through the use of a special electronic programme.

6. Where so provided for by paragraph 5 of this article, a person shall have the right to apply to the Ministry within 3 days and make a written request for the report of a measure employed against him/her.

7. The procedure for carrying out measures of identification of a person defined by this article, including the one for verifying the data in a special electronic programme, shall be determined by the Minister.

Law of Georgia No 1036 of 1 December 2021 – website, 6.12.2021

Article 21 – Invitation of a person

1. The Police may invite a person by a notification to interview him/her at a police station if:

a) there are sufficient grounds to believe that the person holds necessary information that will help the Police to perform their function;

b) it is necessary for identification of another person.

2. When notifying a person, the grounds for inviting him/her must be explained to him/her.

3. When notifying a person of the invitation, it must be explained to him/her that reporting to the police and leaving the police is voluntary, except as provided for by Article 17(8) of this Law.

4. When inviting a person, the peculiarities of his/her official duties and personal interests shall be taken into account.

5. Inviting a minor shall only be admissible together with a parent or a legal representative.

6. Duration of stay of an invited adult at a police station shall not exceed four hours, while in case of a minor, it shall not exceed two hours.

7. A report shall be prepared about the interview with the invited person that shall be signed by the police officer who prepares the report and by an invited person; if an invited person is a minor, a report should also be signed by his/her parents or a legal representative. A report shall contain the name of the invited person and the grounds for the interview, whether the rights have been explained to the invited person, and other factual circumstances. If an invited person refuses to sign an interview report, a relevant entry shall be made in the document. An invited person has the right to add a note to the interview report that shall be endorsed by his/her signature.

Law of Georgia No 1576 of 24 May 2022 – website, 6.6.2022

Article 22 – Frisk and examination

1. Frisk of a person means patting down his/her clothing with hands or with a special device or instrument.

2. A police officer may stop a person for frisk within the frame of preventive measures if:

a) there are reasonable grounds to believe that a person has an item, carrying of which is restricted, or which poses threat to his/her or other people's lives and health;

b) a person is near or within 20 meters of the territory or facility subject to special regime as provided for by Article 23 of this Law;

c) there are reasonable grounds to believe that persons staying in the territory of Georgia illegally gather in the place where the person is, or the place is used by wanted persons to hide, or an offence may be committed.

3. Frisking shall be conducted by a police officer of the same sex. In the case of immediate need, frisk and search may be conducted by any police officer only by a special device or an instrument.

4. Within its preventive authority, a police officer has the right to examine an item or a vehicle, if:

a) a police officer conducts a frisk and search of an actual possessor of the item or the vehicle;

b) there are reasonable grounds to believe that offender or a person illegally deprived of liberty is in the vehicle;

c) there are reasonable grounds to believe that there is an item in the vehicle that has to be seized;

d) there are reasonable grounds to believe that the item or the vehicle is where a crime may be committed, and it is necessary to conduct a frisk and search to prevent a crime;

5. Examination of an item or a vehicle includes visual examination of the item and/or the vehicle; for vehicles, this also includes visual examination of luggage boots.

6. The actual item possessor or a family member of the possessor of the item or the vehicle must attend the examination.

7. A police officer shall explain the right to appeal the legality of the measure defined by this article to the person.

8. The length of time a person may be stopped by a police officer shall not exceed 30 minutes from the moment that the person has been stopped.
9. A police officer shall prepare a report when he/she applies the measure defined by this article. A police officer who prepares the report and the person against whom the measure is conducted shall sign the report. If a person does not attend the examination of an item or vehicle, his/her family member shall sign the report; if the family member does not attend the examination, a neighbour shall sign the report. Persons participating in the measure and the factual circumstances shall be indicated in the report. If a person against whom the measure is conducted refuses to sign the report, a relevant entry shall be made in the report. The signatory has the right to add a note to the report that is endorsed by his/her signature. If the owner of an item or a vehicle subject to examination cannot be identified, a police officer shall conduct the measure defined by this article without the presence of the persons provided for by this paragraph.
10. If the grounds for search originate during a frisk and search, a police officer shall conduct the search as provided for by the Criminal Procedure Code of Georgia.

Article 23 – Special inspection

1. Special inspection, as a preventive measure, shall imply inspection and examination of a person, of an item or a vehicle on territory or at a facility under special regime that is necessary to find and identify the item. The Government of Georgia shall develop the list of territories and objects subject to special regime.
2. Within the scope of their authority, the Police shall perform a special inspection of a person, as a preventive measure, only if:
 - a) there are reasonable grounds to believe that a person carries an item, the possession of which is an offence or a violation of the rules regulating the territory or the facility subject to the special regime;
 - b) it is necessary to identify a person in helpless condition;
 - c) a person is being checked at a border crossing point as provided for by the legislation of Georgia.
3. Special inspection of a person shall be conducted by a police officer of the same sex, except for cases when inspection of a person by a police officer of the same sex requires special efforts. Inspection of a person by a police officer of an opposite sex is admissible only by a special device or instrument.
4. Within the scope of their authority, the Police shall inspect an item or a vehicle as a preventive measure in the cases provided for by Article 22(4) of this Law.
5. Special inspection of a vessel shall be conducted:
 - a) to identify the state of the flag;
 - b) to inspect the ship's crew and passengers;
 - c) to define compliance of the security, maritime navigation tools, environmental and on-board living conditions of the vessel with international standards.
6. A person who is in actual possession of an item or vehicle or his/her family member shall attend a special inspection.
7. A police officer shall explain the right to appeal the legality of the measure in cases provided for by the fourth and fifth paragraphs of this article.
8. If the grounds for search originate during a special inspection, a police officer shall perform the search as provided for by the Criminal Procedure Code of Georgia.

Article 24 – Special police control

1. Special police control of a person, an item, or a vehicle shall be conducted if there are reasonable grounds to believe that a crime or other offence has been or will be committed.
2. Special police control is an inspection conducted by the Police on a pre-selected territory for a specific period of time, while in the cases of immediate necessity it is conducted on relevant territory for a needed period of time. Special police control intends to achieve the purposes determined by the first paragraph of this article.
3. A written order on conducting special police control shall be issued by the Minister, while in the cases of immediate necessity, the Minister or a person designated by order of the Minister shall issue a relevant verbal instruction. The verbal instruction shall be translated into a written instrument within 24 hours.
4. A frisk as provided in Article 22(1)(5) of this Law shall be implemented when conducting special police control.
5. During a special police control, a police officer shall be equipped with switched-on video recording device fixed on his/her uniform.

Article 25 – Demand to leave a place and prohibition of entry onto a certain territory

1. A police officer shall have the right to demand a certain place be left for a specific period of time or to prohibit a person to enter a certain territory, if it is necessary to prevent a threat.

2. Restriction under the first paragraph of this article may last until the threat is eliminated.

3. Application of the measures under this article shall not result in long-term restriction of a person's right to use his/her own domicile.

Article 26 – Restriction of movement of a person or a vehicle or restriction of actual possession of an item

1. Under the legislation of Georgia, the Police shall be authorised to temporarily restrict movement of a person if:

- a) the person's action poses threat to his/her or other people's health and lives;
- b) the person fails to fulfil the requirements under Article 25 of this Law;
- c) the purpose is prevention of a crime or an administrative offence.

2. As provided for by the legislation of Georgia, the Police may temporarily restrict actual possession of an item or movement of a vehicle to prevent a threat if the item or the vehicle may be used by a person to infringe his/her or other people's lives and/or health or damage another's property.

3. Restriction of actual possession of an item shall be conducted by depriving possession of an item, by restriction of its movement or by other means.

4. Temporary restriction of movement of a person, and movement or transportation of an item shall be immediately terminated if the grounds for application of that measure cease to exist.

Article 27 – Use of self-operating photo (radar) and video devices

1. The Police shall be authorised, under the procedure established by the legislation of Georgia, for observing public safety, to install/place and use photo and video devices/equipment or other technical equipment defined by an order of the Minister on the uniform, a vehicle, a road, along outer perimeter of a building, within the border zone of Georgia, and within the border zone of Georgia and the maritime space of Georgia, and to use the installed self-operating devices in the possession of another person, for the purpose of:

- a) preventing crime and protecting a person's safety and property, public order, and protecting minors from harmful influence;
- b) ensuring observance of the road traffic regulations;
- c) ensuring protection of the state border of Georgia, and prevention, detection, and elimination of crimes and other offences within the border zone and the boundary line, and ensuring safety of a person;
- d) timely detecting threats to a person and property at a border crossing point.

¹1. The list of the buildings on the outer perimeter of which self-operating photo and/or video equipment must be installed/placed, and the technical characteristics and the rules of operation of the self-operating photo and video equipment shall be defined by an ordinance of the Government of Georgia.

2. Information regarding self-operating photo (radar) and video devices installed in the cases under the first paragraph of this article shall be indicated in a visible place, except as provided for in paragraph 3 of this article.

3. To ensure security of the road traffic, the police may install/place photo and video devices and a nonstationary (mobile) speedometer on a transportation vehicle, in their possession, without appropriate identification signs along a limited number of road sections defined under a substantiated order of the Director of Patrol Police Department of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Georgia. In this case, information on possible using photo (radar) and video devices shall be indicated at the entry (entries) and exit (exits) of an appropriate road section. In case of using self-operating photo (radar) and video devices by a police transportation vehicle with appropriate identification signs, the information need not be indicated at a road section.

4. Usage of self-operating photo and video devices, and of a nonstationary (mobile) speedometer (direct recording) installed/placed on a transportation vehicle without appropriate identification signs, in possession of the police, may be allowed only on a road section defined under paragraph 3 of this article. Information collected as a result of using self-operating photo and video devices, and a nonstationary (mobile) speedometer installed/placed on a transportation vehicle without appropriate identification signs, in possession of the police, shall be destroyed not later than 24 hours after it was collected, except when the information collected shows a violation of traffic regulations defined under the Administrative Offences Code of Georgia and it is archived for conducting proceedings, under the procedure established by the legislation of Georgia. If information collected contains details of an offence, the information shall be seized under the procedure established by the Criminal Procedure Code of Georgia.

5. Issues of placing self-operating photo and video devices, and a nonstationary (mobile) speedometer on a transportation vehicle without appropriate identification signs, in possession of the police, and issues of using them, also issues of data processing shall be defined by an order of the Minister.

Chapter V – Coercive Measures

Article 30 – Coercive measures

Coercive measures shall include use of physical force, special means, and firearms by the Police to perform police functions.

Article 31 – The right to use coercive measures

1. To perform police functions, a police officer may use fit and proportionate coercive measures only in the case of necessity and to the extent that shall ensure achievement of legitimate objectives.
2. A police officer shall be authorised to use firearms and special means only if he/she has undergone special training.
3. Before using physical force, special means and firearms, a police officer shall warn a person and give a reasonable period of time to carry out the lawful order except if the delay may cause encroachment on life and health of a person and/or of a police officer, or other severe consequences, or if such warning is unjustifiable or impossible in a given situation.
4. The form and extent of a coercive measure shall be defined based on a given situation, the nature of an offence and individual peculiarities of the offender. Also, a police officer must try to cause minimal and proportionate damage while carrying out a coercive measure.
5. A police officer shall be obliged to provide first aid to a person injured by coercive measures.
6. A police officer may not use means that can cause severe injury to a person, may pose unjustifiable risk or are prohibited by the legislation of Georgia.

Article 32 – Use of physical force

1. A police officer shall have the right to use physical force, among them special holds of martial arts to ensure his/her safety and/or safety of other persons, to prevent crimes and/or administrative offences, to arrest a criminal who has committed a crime and/or an administrative offender if the use of non-violent methods cannot ensure performance of police functions vested in the police officer under the law.
2. A police officer shall inform his/her immediate superior and the prosecutor about injuries to a person inflicted as a result of use of physical force except if informing the immediate superior and the prosecutor about the injuries is impossible or is related to specific difficulties, or impedes performance of police functions.
3. If physical force is used against an unspecified number of people, a senior official shall inform his/her immediate superior and the prosecutor.

Article 33 – Use of special equipment

1. A police officer shall use passive and active special equipment to ensure public security and legal order.
2. Passive special means shall ensure protection of life and health of a police officer and/or of a person protected by police officer. Passive special means shall be: bulletproof vests, helmets, riot shields, gas masks and other special body protective equipment.
3. Active special equipment shall disable a person to resist a police officer for a short period of time and/or assist a police officer to perform police functions. Active special means shall be: handcuffs and other means of restraint, rubber batons, tear gas, pepper spray, sonic weapons, non-lethal weapons (including non-lethal shells), flash-bang device of psychological effect, device to stop a vehicle by force, barrier demolition equipment, water cannons, an armoured car and other special vehicles, special paint, police dogs and horses, electroshock devices and a capturing net. The above special means shall be used in the following cases:

- a) handcuffs and other means of restraint are used against a person who resists or may resist a police officer, or tries to escape, who has committed a crime or an action posing a threat to the public at large; during escorting an arrested or a detained person; if a person may injure himself/herself and others as a result of his/her dangerous action;
- b) special batons are used to repel an attack on a person, a police officer and/or a protected facility; to arrest a person who has committed a crime or an offender if he/she refuses to obey a lawful order of a police officer, and to prevent mass and group violations of legal order;
- c) tear gas, pepper spray, sonic weapons, and non-lethal weapons (including non-lethal shells) are used to repel an attack on a person, a police officer and/or protected facility; to prevent mass and group violations of legal order; when detaining a person who has committed a crime or an action posing threat to the public at large, or when forcing such person to leave an occupied territory, vehicle or building and construction that the person is using as a shelter;
- d) flash-bang device of psychological effect to temporarily disorient senses is used to repel an attack on a state and/or public facility, on a person and/or a police officer; to detain a person who is engaged in an armed resistance; to expel a criminal or a dangerous person posing a threat to the public from buildings and construction sites, plots of land, and vehicles that they have broken into, and to release a person who has been unlawfully deprived of liberty.
- e) a device to stop a vehicle by force is applied to stop a vehicle by force that is driven by a person who does not obey the demand of a police officer and whose actions pose a threat to a person's life and health, or if use of such means is necessary to protect proportionate lawful good;
- f) a barrier demolition technique is used to arrest a criminal or a person who has committed an action posing a threat to the public at large, as well as to release a person unlawfully deprived of liberty from a closed space;
- g) water-cannons, armoured car and other special transportation means are used to suppress mass violations of legal order, to repel a group attack on the state and/or public facilities, to stop a vehicle by force if the driver does not obey a police officer's demand to stop; to detain an armed criminal;
- h) special paint is used to detect a person who has committed a crime;
- i) police dogs are used to suppress mass violations of legal order, to chase and arrest a criminal or a person who has committed an action posing a threat to the public at large, to escort an arrested or detained person, to repel an attack on a person and/or a police officer;
- j) police horses are used to chase or arrest a criminal or a person who has committed an action posing a threat to the public at large or during patrolling, and to prevent mass violations of legal order;
- k) an electroshock device is used to repel an attack on a person, a police officer and/or a protected facility;
- l) binding net is used to chase an offender, to repel an armed attack, or to arrest an attacker.

4. A police officer shall inform his/her immediate superior and the prosecutor about inflicting damage to or wounding a person as a result of the use of coercive measures, with the exception of cases when informing the immediate superior and the prosecutor about inflicting damage to or wounding a person by a police officer is impossible or is related to exceptional difficulties, or impedes performance of police functions.

5. If special equipment is used against an unspecified number of people, a senior official shall inform his/her immediate superior and the prosecutor.

6. The rules for keeping, carrying, and using police special equipment shall be regulated by normative acts issued by the Minister.

Article 34 – Right to use firearms

1. A police officer may keep, carry, and use a service firearm, as well as an additional service firearm as determined by the procedure of the Minister.

2. The procedure for keeping and carrying firearms at disposal of a police officer shall be determined by the Minister.

3. Passive use of a firearm refers to demonstration of a firearm by a police officer to achieve a legitimate objective.

4. Active use of a firearm refers to intentional shot from a firearm.

5. A police officer may use a firearm as a last resort:

- a) to defend a person and him/herself from a threat to their lives and/or health;
- b) to release a person who has been unlawfully deprived of liberty;
- c) based on prior information, to prevent the escape of a person who has been detained for having committed a violent act or extremely grievous crime;

- d) to prevent a violent crime if a person resists a police officer;
 - e) to repel an attack on a protected facility, state body and/or civic organisation;
 - f) to defend a person from the attack of a dangerous animal;
 - g) to damage a vehicle to stop it, except shooting from a moving vehicle at another moving vehicle, if the action of a driver poses threat to human life and/or health and the driver does not obey multiple demands of a police officer to stop the vehicle.
6. The active use of a firearm against a person shall be preceded by the following verbal warning: 'Police! Freeze or I will shoot!' followed by a warning shot. In the case of necessity, a warning shot might not be fired.
7. A firearm may be used without prior warning:
- a) in the case of an armed attack, or unexpected attack with military equipment, any vehicle or mechanical means;
 - b) based on the prior knowledge of a police officer, in the case of an escape, using a vehicle, of a person detained or imprisoned for extremely grievous crime;
 - c) in the cases of armed resistance by a person;
 - d) to give an alarm signal or to request support forces;
 - e) to stop the robbing a police officer of a firearm;
 - f) to kill a deadly injured or diseased animal if it is obvious that the problem cannot be solved otherwise.
8. Use of a firearm in a situation where it may cause deadly injury shall only be admissible in the case of self-defence or emergency.
9. A police officer may in no case use a firearm in the areas where there is a possibility of injuring other people, as well as in inflammable and combustible areas, except for the cases of necessary self-defence and/or emergency.
10. A police officer shall urgently inform his/her immediate superior and the prosecutor about the active use of firearms.
11. The list of firearms and ammunition in the police arsenal shall be determined by the legislation of Georgia.

Article 35 – Restrictions to use coercive measures

- 1. Use of physical force, special equipment, and firearms against persons who are obviously pregnant, under age, with disabilities or elderly shall be inadmissible, except if they are armed or carry out a group attack or armed resistance to police officer, thus endangering lives and health of other persons or the police officer, and if this attack or resistance is impossible to repel by any other means and methods.
- 2. An exception to the first paragraph of this article shall occur in cases where the non-use of physical force and special equipment makes it impossible to carry out police functions.

Chapter VI – Police Service

Article 36 – The procedure for serving in the Police

- 1. The procedure to serve in the Police shall be defined by normative acts of the Minister.
- 2. A police officer may not go on strike or participate in meetings and demonstrations.
